

ENGAGING EIDOS

www.eidos.org.au

Within the Eidos network we now have more than 80 leading research and policy institutes and centres, and over 500 active senior and early career researchers.

As a representative body for eight universities, Eidos is well positioned to engage academic consultants, advisors or teams with specific skill sets. The real strengths of Eidos is that it is independent, able to source the best thinkers and data from within and outside of the network, and has streamlined processes with member universities to ensure a rapid response to any request for research, consultancy and project work.

Eidos has the capacity to broker public and private research and policy teams to match your research and evaluation needs. We're positioned to understand your needs and to provide institute/centre teams to deliver the research results you require. We can assist in three easy ways.

Eidos can:

Within 1 day provide the names of expert academics, consultants and/or research centres and institutes who have a proven track record for you to follow-up directly.

Within 7 days provide names of experts academics, consultants and/or research centres and institutes who have the capacity and availability to deliver, plus we can provide a project plan including timelines and budget.

Within 30 days seek competitive bids from more than 80 research centres and institutes.

1 week to prepare proposal with you; 2 weeks out for competitive bid; 1 week – selections made in partnership with you

Eidos can also edit, graphically design and disseminate your findings through innovative techniques including video, events and to over 5000 subscribers to Eidos Online.
